

Welcome to the jungle: Lush greens for your home

Large green plants, palms and succulents of all sorts are more popular than ever. Tropical houseplants like the trendy Monstera or the arrowhead plants with their large, decorative leaves and lush, green tones give rooms a feeling of naturalness and contemporary flair.

When it comes to the current 'Urban Jungle' interiors trend, the principle of the more the merrier applies. Rooms can be designed creatively and uniquely using arrangements of several large-leaved plants. The best aspect is that plants encourage a good ambiance, purify the air of harmful substances and create a better level of atmospheric humidity. Combined with modern LECHUZA planters, the ensembles create a gorgeously cozy and modern feel. Jungle plants displayed in stylish LECHUZA planters with high-quality varnished surfaces look particularly impressive. The integrated sub-irrigation system guarantees optimal growth conditions for the plants thanks to the reliable interaction of the water and nutrient supply systems.

The asymmetrical design of the new planter from the CURSIVO range offers exciting views of the tropical plants. Combining two different sizes creates a unique, flexible method of partitioning spaces that helps bring the jungle into your home.

CURSIVO is available as an All-in-One set including planter, planter liner, water level indicator and plant substrate LECHUZA-PON. CURSIVO is available in three different sizes in the high-gloss colors white, black, taupe, scarlet red and in charcoal metallic, silver metallic and espresso metallic.
